Men and women can be so different. Many women naturally have certain God-given and blessed gifts: unconditional love, extreme patience, nurturing care, and a deep sense of self-sacrifice. These are the inbred gifts of countless women. Men are so different!

One night a wife found her husband standing over their baby’s crib. Silently she watched him. As he stood looking down at the sleeping infant, she saw on his face a mixture of emotions: disbelief, doubt, delight, amazement, enchantment. Touched by this unusual display of deep emotions, she slipped her arm around her husband with glistening eyes and asked, “A penny for your thoughts?” The husband replied with astonishment, “I just can’t see how anybody can make a crib like that for only $46.50.”

On Father’s Day, we want to seriously lift up the most important virtue that fathers should strive to display in their role as the spiritual head of the household. In a Biblical passage that we read at every Orthodox wedding ceremony, St. Paul writes to the Ephesians, “the husband is head of the wife, as Christ is head of the Church.” In today’s world, many people feel uncomfortable with this teaching because it appears chauvinistic and even unfair. Yet it may help to understand the context and central meaning of this passage.

When St. Paul describes marriage, and thus family life itself, he equates it to a great mystery—a mystery where husbands are compared to Christ and the wives to the Church.

When the Christian father fulfills his role as the spiritual head of the family, he imitates our Lord Jesus Christ’s example of leadership. The Apostle Paul explains, “As Christ loved the Church and gave Himself for her, thus husbands should love their wives” and of course, their entire family “as Christ loved the Church.” How did Jesus love His Church? By sacrificing his life for her. By humbling Himself and washing her feet. By constantly giving of Himself, and placing the needs of others before His own needs. By doing everything necessary to lift up the other, and help them in The mission of Sts. Constantine and Helen Church is to proclaim the Good News of Salvation through the Orthodox Christian Faith for the glory of our Triune God - Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

HAPPY FATHER’S DAY

their journey of salvation towards God!

You see, when St. Paul exhorted the husband to act as the head of his wife and the spiritual leader of his family, he was not giving the father some special privilege. Instead, he placed the cross of Christian headship upon the man. He called the father to die for his wife and family, to do whatever necessary to ensure that His wife and family would follow him in a journey towards the Kingdom of Heaven.

I say to Presbytera Faith that on the final day, we will either enter paradise together, or not at all. Our journey is a journey together! And I am called to lead that journey, to do whatever I can to ensure that we go forward together, we struggle up that spiritual ladder together, and we walk hand-in-hand towards the Kingdom of God. And in as much as it is in my ability, I will try to teach the way and show the path to each of my children. Here lies the single most important role of the father!

It’s an incredible responsibility and privilege that we possess, and on this Father’s Day, I want to lift up this essential spiritual dimension of the day. We can mention many things that fathers should strive to do in their lives – to be loving to their wives, to be present and available to their children, to support and care for their families, to be the protector of their homes, and yet, before all of these responsibilities, in fact above all other callings in life, the father’s greatest responsibility is to lead his wife and family towards the Kingdom of God!

On this Father’s Day, I want all our fathers to think for a moment – when our wives reflect on our lives, when our children ponder the legacy that we will leave behind, when our friends will eulogize us, will they think about a person who led his family towards the Kingdom of God? Will they be grateful to God for having a husband and father that showed them how to walk on the path that leads to paradise? Will our children fondly remember how we prayed, how we brought them to Church each week, how we reflected the Christian virtues of mercy and compassion, how we incarnated God’s love in concrete ways to the world around us?

I’m afraid that too many fathers will be remembered for sitting in their chair and watching the ball game, for skipping church to play golf on Sundays, for wasting their time in unedifying entertainment such as casinos, for being the tough guy who didn’t have time for the one thing essential. Why is it that throughout history, women have often fulfilled the role as the pillars of faith, women have been the ones who attend the services, women have been the ones who seem to work out their salvation? Now I truly thank God for the women throughout history who have kept the faith and loved the world in sacrificial ways! Yet on Father’s Day, our call is to honor our fathers by reminding them and challenging them to live up to their role as spiritual heads of their household! Be true men, in a godly sense, and fulfill your calling as saints!

Let all fathers, together with the mothers, not give in to the weak image of parenthood that contemporary films and movies often ridicule, and which prevails in our modern society. Instead may we struggle and sacrifice, setting an example of holiness by sincerely seeking first the kingdom of God in their lives. As the old proverb says, “A father is worth more than a hundred school masters.”

Ultimately, the most important lessons that a father can teach his children, and by far the most lasting legacy we can leave our progeny, are for fathers to place God first in their lives, to teach their household to fear the Lord, and then to guide their families by example on this journey into the heights of the Kingdom of Heaven.

I wish a most blessed and joyous Father’s Day to all fathers everywhere on that special day!

With love in Christ our Lord,

+ Luke
One morning a lady who was quite irate got into my taxi. She was mumbling to herself and cursing the previous taxi driver who forced her out of the vehicle. The poor thing was literally trembling, and in her confusion she even forgot to say good morning.

I asked her, “What’s the matter ma’am?”

“What’s the matter? I just took a cab from Delphi and asked the driver to take me to the AHEPA Hospital. After I sat down, we hardly traveled a block down the road when he suddenly stopped and told me, “I cannot take you. Get out and take another taxi.” When I asked him for an explanation, he gave me a thousand excuses.

“Please, “I said, “It is hard to find a taxi at this time, and it is very urgent. I have my mother sick at the hospital.”

“No,” he told me. “I cannot take you. I have my reasons.”

“We argued for a while, and then he forced me to get out, so here I am. He did all he could to stress me out first thing in the morning, but I am not done with him yet! I recorded his license number and he will see me in court. When my attorney is done with him, I promise you that he will never forget me as long as he lives.

“Do whatever God enlightens you to do. After a few minutes and when she seemed to calm down a bit, I said, “Now if you don’t mind, I would like to take a moment of your time to offer you my humble opinion and I promise I’ll be brief.”

“I will listen to you, as long as you don’t try to justify him.”

“No. But please hear me out. I think it is worth the trouble.”

“I’m still very upset, but I will listen to you.”

“One thing I try to do every morning before I venture out in my field of work is that I kneel and ask God to grant me the virtue of patience and forbearance. This is necessary for everyone of course, but especially for us cab drivers, since we have to deal with so many different types of people. So, in the morning at the start of my day’s work, the first customer who enters the cab typically makes my life unbearable. He begins grumbling, treating me unjustly, accusing me, and insulting me for no reason at all. Instinctively, I soon find myself becoming angry, enraged, and ready to explode. At that very moment, however, I hear Christ mystically tell me, “Hey, Thanasi, why are you so upset? Didn’t you ask me this morning to grant you forbearance? So here, I allowed this customer to enter into your taxi to serve as your spiritual mirror. Thanks to him you have a full diagnosis of your inner state, and the type of serpents that reside there, my Thanasi. These creepy things [passions] don’t go away with sweet talk and praises, but by patiently enduring hardships, afflictions, and insults.

Based on this, the miserable customer who entered my taxi this morning became my best benefactor. Without realizing it, he did the greatest service to me. He brought my old evil and deeply rooted passions to the surface. For this reason, I must not forget to sincerely thank God during my evening prayer and tell him, “My God, I thank you for this man because without meaning to, he acted as a spiritual mirror to help me see the filth that harbors inside me.

It would be nice if you and I could go to the nearest grocery store and order ten pounds of love, fifteen pounds of humility, and forty pounds of patience. Unfortunately, these virtues are not available at stores or on amazon or e-bay.
If they were, I would be the first one to purchase them. All these virtues are fruits of the Holy Spirit. They are gained through experiential knowledge; the more a person humbles himself, the more he or she draws the grace of God. All of us are eager for our prayers to be heard by God, when it comes to the healing and well-being of our relatives. However, we usually forget to pray for the well being of our enemies.
How can our prayer ascend to heaven when it is lacking the wings of forgiveness and love?”

Suddenly, my friends, I heard a noise in the back seat. The lady had just ripped up the paper with the number of my fellow taxi driver. With lips trembling with emotions and tears on her cheeks she asked me, “Do you know what the strange thing is, Mr. Thanasi? I am a teacher of theology. Through my career, I have given thousands of hours of religious lessons, but today, I received the most beautiful lesson ever. This is a lesson that I have never given to my students.
What a shame! Thank you.!”

“Whatever you want, Mr. Thanasi, whatever you want.”

“Before you go to see your mother, as you enter the hospital, at your left hand, you will find the hospital chapel.”

“Yes, I know it. I go there frequently.”

“Go and please light a little candle, not for me, not for your mother, but for the taxi driver who kicked you out. He was the reason we met today. Furthermore, this is what we should do as Orthodox Christians, and no one knows this better than you theologians.”

With eyes wet with emotion and a trembling voice, she told me, “I will do it, Mr. Thanasi. I promise you that I will do it. I thank you from the bottom of my heart because today turned out to be one of the most beautiful days of my life.”

She closed the door and left for the hospital. I also rejoiced because she seemed to be quite comforted. Do you see, my friends, how beautiful life can be? Whenever people mistreat us, instead of taking them to court, let us take them to Christ.

RANDOM ACTS OF KINDNESS

Some of you may recall me mentioning a friend of ours whose 18 month old son, Talon, died two years ago. Our families are good friends and it was heart wrenching to see this baby boy so ill. His parents started a foundation to help other parents whose children have terminal diseases and they are often at Boston Children’s Hospital helping families in need. Recently, the father, Chad, shared a very touching message on Facebook that I would like to share with you.

May 14, 2015
Today is a special day, my boy Talon Whitcomb went home to be with the Lord two years ago. I want to take this day to remind us all that life is short. Reach out to your loved ones; call them; hug them; tell them you love them.

I know Talon's suffering is over and he is a healed little boy waiting for me to see him again. Take this month and pay it forward, help someone out. Do an act of kindness in Talon’s name. I also want to thank all of you for the continued support you give my family. I love you all.

Please keep this beautiful message in mind and continue to do random acts of kindness as often as you can.

Thank you to all who helped at the luncheon in honor of the Metropolitan’s Pastoral Visit and the celebration of our Church’s Feast Day dinner! Many thanks to Charlie and Helen Pappas for sponsoring both meals.

Happy Fathers Day to all the men, whether you are a father or a father figure. May you enjoy this special day!

My prayers to all of you that may be going through challenging times.

Congratulations to any graduates or those celebrating a special occasion!

May the Lord's Blessings be upon us all

First of all, I would like to wish all the mothers and women of our parish a very happy belated Mother’s Day. With everything going on I forgot to mention it in last month’s bulletin and I am very sorry about that!

Our church hall, kitchen, and church are almost done. It looks fantastic! I would like to thank all who helped to get everything ready for our Metropolitan’s visit and the dinner after church. He was very impressed on how everything looked!

On Monday June 1st at 6:00 the Ladies will be having their end of the year dinner at the church hall. It will be a catered event. We decided we want to enjoy our newly renovated hall. The cost is $20.00. Please see Olga Pappas or one of our officers if you plan on attending so we have a head count. We would like all ladies members or non members to attend. It should be a nice casual event for all.

We are moving on to our next phase of our renovations with a new side entry way and additional new classrooms for our Sunday School children. So our summer will be busy! It will be done by the festival in September. We will keep you informed about the baking of the petas, baklava, etc. for the festival.

Please don't forget to pay your dues. We have certain obligations to national and metropolis philoptochos in addition to our own society.

Have a healthy, relaxing, and enjoyable summer. We deserve the warmth after the terrible winter we had!

Dimitrios and Efkarphia Sidopoulos came from the Kastoria and Kozani regions of Greece, immigrating to Webster, Massachusetts in 1968 where they joined Efkarphia’s brother Sokrates Nikopoulos. They worked hard throughout their lives at Stevens Linen factory, Bates Shoe Company, and Ethan Allen offering a stable home to their two beautiful children Kosta and Elftheria. From the time they came to the States, they have been faithful and active members of our Sts. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church in Webster.

They are among the most faithful members who will be seen not only at every Divine Liturgy each Sunday, but at most every other liturgical service - Wednesday Paraclesis service, weekday Liturgy honoring our saints, or at any other service throughout the year. They love to worship our Lord!

Both Dimitri and Efkarphia are always ready to help do whatever is needed for the Church. Effie makes her delicious pitas and pastries for every Church Festival, Church Feast Day celebration, or any other special event we have throughout the year. Both work hard in the setting up and the service of our Festival. At our annual Spring cleaning, Dimitri is always there ready to help. Efkarphia has also been a very active member of our Philoptochos Society. What is most beautiful, though is how both Dimitri and Efkarphia serve the Church in a quiet, humble, joyful manner. Effie always greets everyone with a smile and a hug! Our Sts. Constantine and Helen Community is so very happy to honor these two most faithful members of our Church Family!

10. Am I trying to do all that I can do for the glory of God?
11. Am I making any effort to tithe, give 10%, of my income to God?
12. If I do not tithe, will I try to increase my giving with the passing of time?
13. Do I truly believe Christ's teaching that "it is more blessed to give than to receive.?

The rich man is not one who has much but one who gives much. For what he gives away remains his forever.
